AS I SEE IT

ON THE COVER: Mike Bean die-stamped an eagle on a small card which he gave away at this year's F.U.N. show in Tampa, FL (see p. 8).

Miss Auction No. 16? Shoveling snow? See page 10. The lots (95) remaining are still available at their minimums. The few (46) remaining lots from Auction No. 15 are also still available at reduced (20%±) minimums (page 10).

Auction 17 in this issue (starting on p. 11) is the largest yet, and consists entirely of BEP material, some of which (at right) has NEVER been offered before! The next auction will be of SO cards and ABNCo-related material, of which, again, a large quantity have NOT been previously offered. What type of material are you looking for? Let me know.

Wonder why your postal rates are going up? An article in Linn's Stamp News (7 February 2001) noted that between 2001 and 2004, the USPS had "provided 60 to 65 percent" of Lance Armstrong's bike-racing team's budget, which amounted to an expenditure of $31.9 million! His "star power was reflected in the rising value of the financial support he got from the Postal Service. The initial contract the Postal Service signed in 1996 gave him $1 million. By 2000 the level of support had risen to $3.3 million." There is NO indication of how much was the total paid out over the life of the contract.

It noted, "The Postal Service had refused to make the amount of the payments public, saying that disclosure might hurt its ability 'to negotiate cost effective sponsorships' in the future." It would be interesting to discover just how such sponsorships are "cost effective" to the USPS! Is there some need for them to advertise? I thought their purpose was to transport the mail!

William Kriebel (27)

At left, are the images from the 1994 BEP invitation for the opening reception of its Centennial year (lot 404 in the current auction). It is a folded card (4.5" x 5.75") with the text details on the outside. I am showing it both, as an enticement for prospective bidders, and for those who may never get to see a copy. It was NOT offered to the general public and was issued in very limited quantities (which is why it does NOT have an S.C.C.S. number). The engravings are in blue. Very handsome.

Metro Chapter Four now has a website:
souvenircards.org

Washington Chapter One will meet at NAPEX on 4 June 2011 (Saturday) at 11:00 a.m. Metro Chapter Four will meet at ASDA, on 7 April 2011. I understand they will both be issuing cards.

WANTED! ARTICLES, ILLUSTRATIONS, NEWS, INFORMATION!

I ask for your input for this Journal. Do you have a favorite card that you would like to share with the membership? What makes it your favorite? Would you like to write how/why you first started collecting cards? How do you "house" them? Do you maintain records of their cost to you or "value"? If so, in what manner? Do you use a computer or ledger file? How long have you been collecting? What types of cards do you collect and do you store them by type or chronologically?

WRITE FOR THE JOURNAL, IT'S EASY!
NO EXPERIENCE NECESSARY!

HERE AND THERE—7

William Kriebel (27)

An article in Linn's Stamp News, 13 December 1993, noted that the "Bureau of Engraving and Printing will issue a souvenir card in honor of its 100th anniversary of printing U.S. postage stamps." And so it did on 1 July 1994, the card that we know as B186.

The author of the article, Charles Yeager, went on to say that "Centennial souvenir cards are popular these days.

"In 1993, souvenir card collectors had an opportunity to buy the centennial souvenir card issued by the International Plate Printers, Die Stampers and Engravers Union of North America."

"The card featured original line engravings by Bureau engravers Gary Chaconas, Thomas Hipschen and Kenneth Kipperman." I believe this is F1993B.

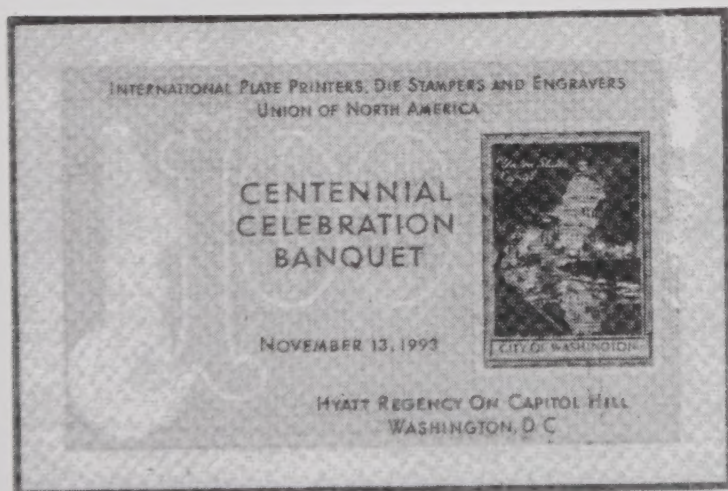

"The international union ended its centennial year with a banquet and ball in Washington, D.C., Nov. 13.

"Pictured nearby [below] is the smaller, fancy, engraved and embossed card included in the invitation to the banquet and ball.

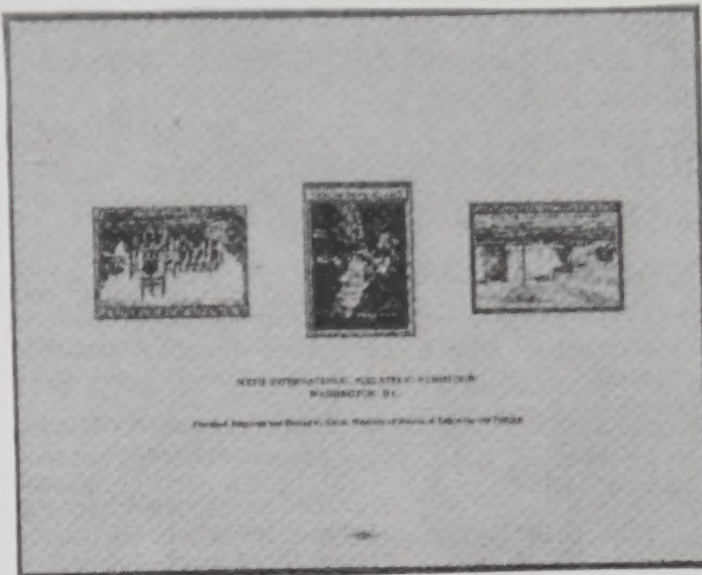

"Each craft member attending the event received a 12-page convention book of engravings." I believe this is F1993Ha-1.

"A limited edition of 600 books was produced and distributed. Unfortunately, neither the books nor the invitations are available to collectors."

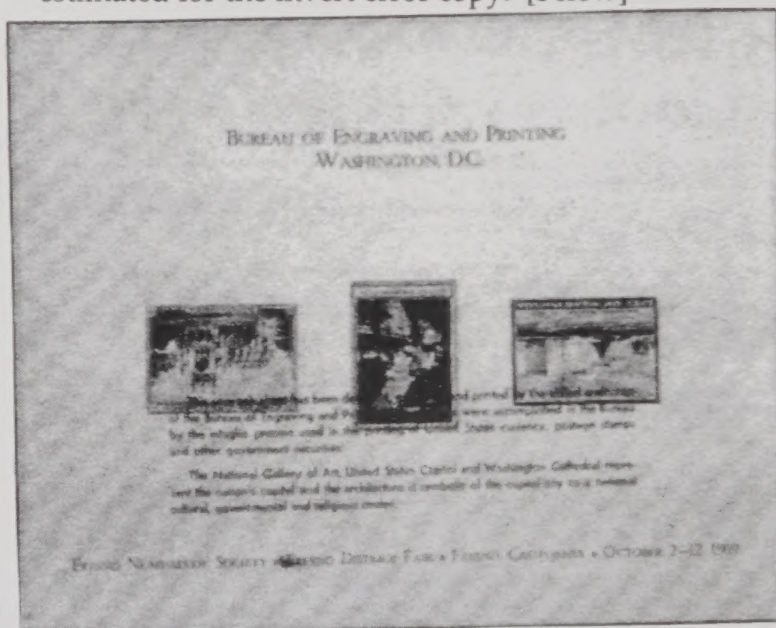

Obviously, at least some of the "books" became available on the secondary market.

The 7 February 1981 issue of Stamp Collector reported the existence of an inverted error version of the 1966 SIPEX scenes (F1966A) card [below].

In a similar case, Linn's Stamp News, of 10 August 1981, reported the a 1969 FRESNO (B3) card had been discovered with the images inverted. Linn's described the basic card as "...a key souvenir card, currently among the highest priced of all souvenir cards in normal condition. No dollar value has been estimated for the invert error copy." [below]

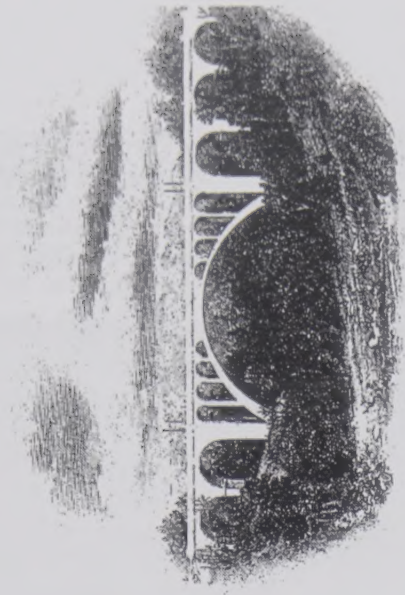

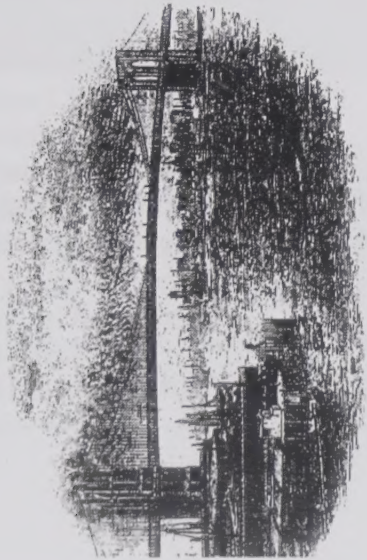

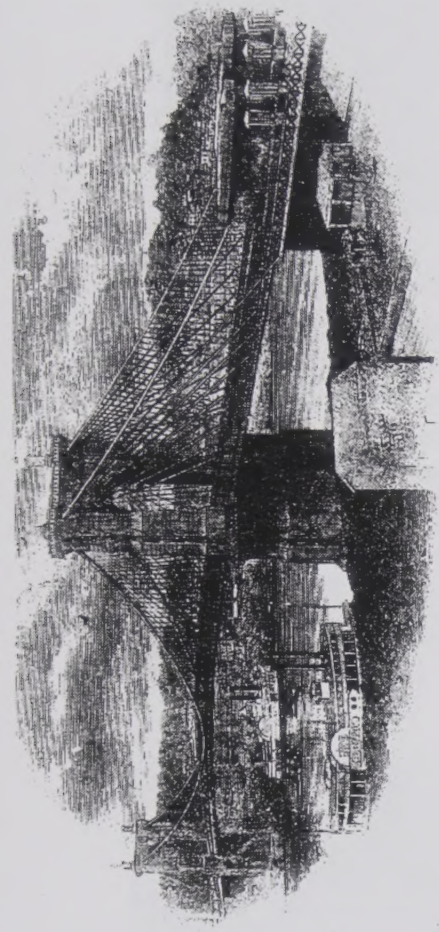

Other errors have been reported, early on, in this Journal, but Donald W. Hitchcox (2), the author of "Souvenir Card Errata" for many years, finally passed away.

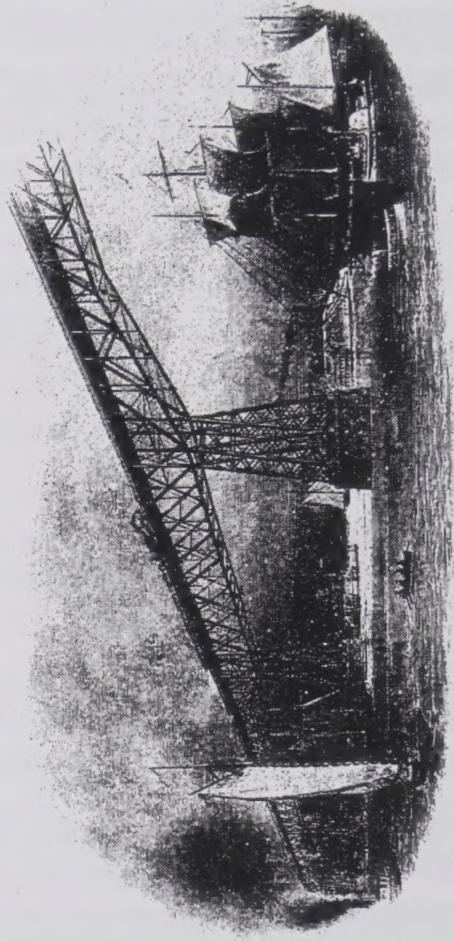

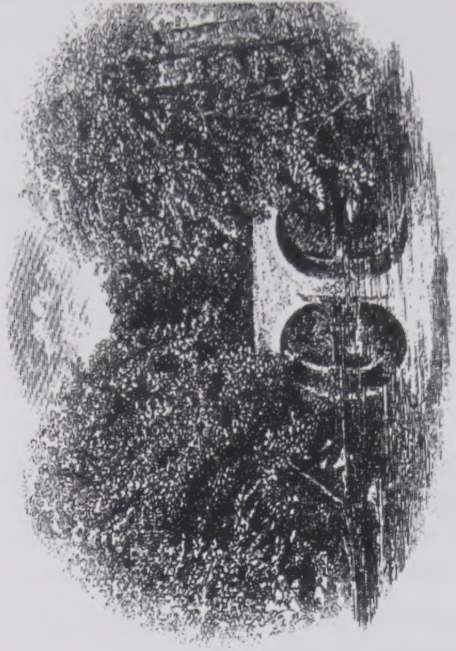

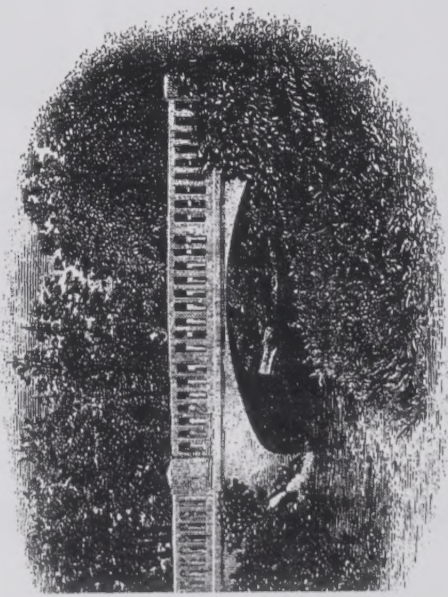

It makes me wonder where any of these cards, limited editions and/or errors now reside?

From the primitive wood plank and the simple span of stone to the steel suspension truss flung across a vast stretch of space, the history and utility of bridges are taken for granted. Their development through a variety of styles, the romance of their engineering feats, and the sheer convenience of their existence need such a visual reminder as this selection from our inventory of steel engraved vignettes.

A BRIDGE TO...

Larry Leyser (1547)

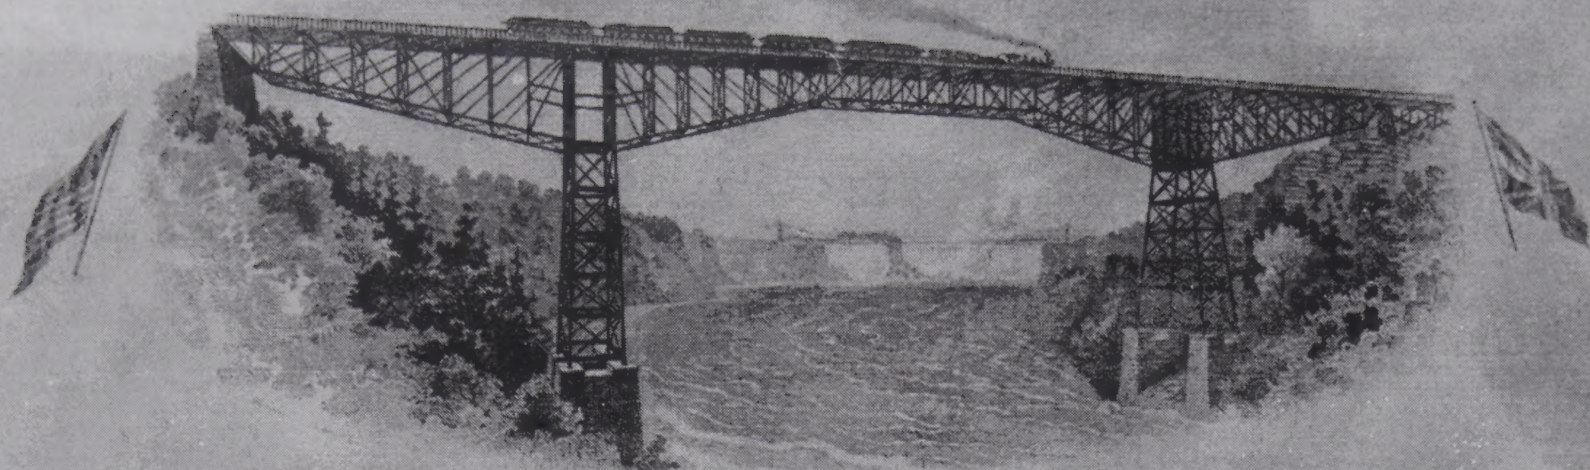

Bridges have been the theme on a few Bureau souvenir cards over the years. The first bridge to make an appearance on a card was on that issued for the Stamp Expo in San Francisco in 1972 (B21). This card featured a block of four of the 1947 25¢ air mail stamp that featured the San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge. The next time a bridge played a major part on a card was on the 1993 Midwest Flood Relief card (B177). [This is the Eads Bridge in St. Louis, which also appears on the Trans-Mississippi stamp on B229 and PS48.] There is one appearance on a Semi-Official card, the Brooklyn Bridge, on the 1991 ASDA New York card (SO82). There is also the 82nd IPPDS & EU Convention (F1987Hc) which featured six vignettes printed by U S Banknote Company (opposite). [The Brooklyn Bridge (upper left); The Wheeling "Little Brooklyn" Bridge (1854), in West Virginia (top, center); and The Poughkeepsie Railroad Bridge (1888) across the Hudson (bottom, center). I have been unable to identify the three concrete/masonry bridges. Ed.]

However there are many more examples of bridges on unlisted semi-official cards. Probably the most famous of these is the Brooklyn Bridge. An invitation to the Opening Ceremonies, 24 May 1883 (below), is a beautiful engraved card by Tiffany & Co. The Brooklyn Bridge took 13 years to build and cost 15.5 million dollars.<sup>1</sup> The bridge has over 130,000 crossings a day and has become an iconic part of the New York skyline.

The same year saw the completion of the Canti lever-bridge [sic] below Niagara Falls built by William H. Vanderbilt. [The bridge was for the Canada Southern Railroad, a subsidiary of Vanderbilt's New York Central system. Work began on 15 April 1883, and was completed very quickly.] On 20 December, the Opening, was marked by a souvenir Invitation [page 6]. The card is litho-printed by an unknown printer. This 906 ft. bridge cost approximately $700,000.00 and was only in use until 1925, when it was replaced by the Michigan Central Railway Steel Arch Bridge.<sup>1</sup>

One Bridge wasn't enough to handle the traffic between Manhattan and Brooklyn so a second Bridge was started in 1896. The Williamsburg Bridge was completed in 1903 at a cost of 24.2 million dollars. To celebrate the opening of the bridge on 19 December 1903 once again an invitation (fig. 4) was printed by Tiffany & Co. Still in use today the bridge connects the Lower East Side of Manhattan with the Williamsburg neighborhood of Brooklyn and handles 106,700+ vehicles a day. An interesting note on the invitation pictured is that it is made out to Hon. John Bigelow. Bigelow was the Minister to France 1865 – 1866, Secretary of State of New York 1876 – 1877, and one of the editors and co-founders of The New York Evening Post from 1849 – 1861.<sup>1</sup>

FLORIDA UNITED NUMISMATISTS

56th Annual Convention

Tampa, Florida

January 6-9, 2011

Chicago Paper Money Exposition — CPMX 2011 March 10 - 13, 2011

This Official CPMX souvenir card, sixteenth of the series, is a double commemorative. First, it honors the seventeenth Chicago Paper Money Exposition. Krause Publications, well known publishers in the numismatic field as well as many other hobby and sports areas, sponsors this widely acclaimed convention. In addition, it recalls the 100th anniversary of the start of the Chinese Revolution in 1911.

China had been ruled under a monarchy for almost 4,000 years, including imperial dynasties for the last 2,000 years. The last dynasty, the Qing, began in 1644 under Manchu rulers from the north. The dynasty came under increasing pressure in the 19th century to reform, resulting in a number of failed revolutions from 1895 to 1911. The Chinese Revolutionary Alliance, which included Dr. Sun Yat-sen in a leadership role, campaigned against the imperial dynasty with three issues: 1) corruption in the imperial government; 2) the inability of the imperial government to restrain interventions by foreign powers; and 3) resentment of the minority Manchu rulers by the majority Han population. The successful revolution which resulted in the establishment of the Republic of China began with the Wuchang Uprising on October 10, 1911. Dr. Sun Yat-sen was elected provisional president of the Republic of China later that year.

Attached is a banknote of the Republic of China picturing Dr. Sun Yat-sen.

This Souvenir card is sponsored by the Midwest Chapter of the International Bank Note Society

This is card 12 of 100 pieces

FOREIGN CARDS ANYONE?

William Kriebel (27)

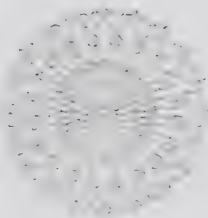

"THE ROYAL CASTLE, SLOTTET OSLO" engraved in brown as part of a ca. 1993 Christmas greeting folder/card printed and presented by the Bank of Norway Printing Works—also the printer of many of Norway's stamps. One side of the card (below) bears the castle engraving and a rosette (use a magnifying glass and you will see a large "NB" hidden in the center of the design). The other side (next page) is offset printed; one panel bears three 1993 engraved stamps mounted on a block of security printing; the other panel bears Christmas greetings and is signed (probably by the director of the printing works). The card measures 7.75" x 6" folded.
